Pacific Northwest Native Plants

Presented by

Dixie and Scott Edwards, owners of Watershed Garden Works, a wholesale and retail native plant nursery

www.watershedgardenworks.com

Come join us for our discussion of the propagation and uses of Pacific Northwest native plants. We will be covering practical knowledge we have learned in nearly thirty years of growing natives. Topics will include ethnobotany with a focus on edible plants, protocols for collecting seeds and cuttings for propagation, wildlife, rain gardens, drought tolerant plants for landscaping, planting natives with compatible non-native plants, etc.

We encourage questions and always keep our presentations informal.
A diverse sampling of plants for sale will be brought for those interested.
